

Feel So Different

I had no hope
I had no faith
I'd given up on the whole damn human race
I had no home
No sacred place
But I feel so different now

I had style, the rebel's grace
I lived like a fugitive from the works of fate
I had girls
I had no love
But I feel so different now

I had time
Yet I was late
In realizing of what this life's really made
The meaning of the other
The father and the mother
And where the circle ends

I had my soul
For all that's worth
And all the demons that my mind could birth
But they better run for cover
For now you are my lover
And I feel so different now
